BRIEF SUMMARY

I'm a Full-Stack Software Developer with a strong foundation in the MERN stack and a specialization in Software and Mobile App Development (SMAD). Currently pursuing my B.Tech at MIT-ADT University, Pune, I focus on developing web platforms, cross-platform mobile apps, and integrating AI into user-centered solutions. Proficient in JavaScript, React, React Native, Java, and Python, I've worked on projects like an AI-based meal planner and an NGO activity management app, combining functionality with purpose. I'm constantly exploring new technologies, improving my skills, and working on projects that push me to think creatively. My goal with every project is to build software that truly makes a difference.
